and to all members of the Pulitzer Board

Greetings,

1) There is no way you are going to understand how I work; have always worked. I have been self-employed in Insurance, Accounting, Tax, Law, and web design since I was discharged from the Army in 1972. I still do web design. All my clients were and are self-employed business owners. I have degrees in Political Science Accounting and Law from the University of Houston. It took 10 years and I worked full time the whole time in addition to raising 4 children while acquiring the accounting and law degrees after my service in the Army. Chances are slim you know anyone who has done that.

I have been married twice for 19 years each and I have 4 kids with the first wife all now in their late 40s and early 50s. I say this because many people make the mistake of writing me off as some New Age airhead simply because I changed my name in 1988 after the first divorce. Wife one hated me but refused to let go of my birth surname Wolter. I wanted distance from her in every way possible. So I changed my name a few weeks before I turned 40, on April 24, 1988. The overwhelming majority of women change their names when they marry. So you can say half the American society has changed their name, not to mention all the immigrants who come to America and many who hate the name their parents gave them. I changed a lot of names when I practiced law. Many by Hispanics who wanted to hide their ancestry because they had a lot of Spanish DNA and looked White. Like Martinez to Martin. People criticized me for changing my surname and spitting on my father's name but none criticized me for changing it to WorldPeace but it was certainly implied.

2) I have always been psychic and intuitive. But I refused to tell fortunes and get involved with stupid questions like, does johnny love me, am I going to get a raise, a new car, etc. Every poem I have written, and much of the other things I have written are what most people would call automatic writing or channeling. Everyone of my poems have been channeled. I see something, I hear something, I have visions which is the source of all my art as well. I do not sit down and try to scratch out poems without inspiration. When I feel it is time to write. I write.

3) I am very much aware of what goes on in my reality on all levels. Everything I have done in my life has had a spiritual (not religious) green light or I do not do it. This has been going on for 74 years.

Most people refuse to listen to their souls. They discount miracles as coincidences. There are no coincidences. Most people would resolve 95% percent of their problems if they would just daily if not moment-to-moment meditate and pray. This is the focus of the Millennials and the Third Millennium and The Age of Aquarius. The world is in the process of discounting corporate religion because of its corporate corruption and embracing spirituality. A mass ascension to a more spiritual world human society began decades ago.

I become aware of many things but I do not write them all down. The significant ones with a global message, I write as poems. I believe every poem I have ever written was for someone or someones in the present or in the future. I write. I publish, I move on with my life.

4) Example. This morning biking 3.5 miles uphill to the gym on the bike trail I was passing a 20 foot wall with shrubs planted at its base and vines growing on it. I heard a man talking and looked around and could not see anyone. So I stopped my bike and turned around. About 30 feet behind me on the ledge at the base of the wall there was a homeless guy talking to no one.

I got off my bike and started talking to him. A picture is attached. He is 49, light skinned Black, lucid, named Namin, he said. He was concerned about an old white guy reaching out to him. But he relaxed. When I encounter these situations I know when to keep going and when to stop. I had a clear message to stop and turn around and talk to this guy.

5) He was defensive because he was ranting about Biden. I told him I did not care about that and to relax, I asked him if he was a poet. He said he was. And he brought up Amanda Gorman and asked me when she began to write poems and I said 15. He said he had been writing since 6. He said his mother had his poems and he was proud of some poem books he wrote and bound in class in the 5th grade. He knew about Toni Morrison and Maya Angelou. He talked about the stories and poems these women wrote. We talked about 20 minutes.

As I got back on my bike he began to walk close by. I was going slow because I was going uphill. When we came to the street he went off to the right and I crossed to the left. I looked for him after I crossed and he was gone. He told me he was going to get his pack but who knows. Was he real? Yes because he would say hello to the people who passed by while we talked. But you never know who is really real in the earth dreamscape.

6) I will write a poem about it later today. It was a significant encounter. Not life-changing because this kind of thing has always happened to me. These events remind me of stories like a knight riding through the woods and he passes a tree and a little frog says "Beware of the woman with the black dress."

7) I am going to repeat again that this 2022 Pulitzer Poetry Prize is a second chance for the Board to pay attention to the fact that the world is fighting Covid, racism, war in Ukraine and I am the only global advocate for peace and WorldPeace on every level in the world human society. And I am certainly the only advocate for peace with submission to Pulitzer this year and in 2020

8) I saw in the paper this morning before biking to the gym an article in Nation magazine about a poet John Keene, another Black queer just like Jericho Brown who won the 2020 Pulitzer Poetry Prize with a less than a 100-page poetry book about his searching out the perfect Black cock. He won over my 2700 page complete poems that the Pulitzer did not even read. Poems about WorldPeace.

All my poems are a variation on the many themes regarding WorldPeace.

Now let me give you a heads up. WorldPeace is a global issue. government, politics, the courts of law, racism, the subordination of women, teaching peace, covid, religion and so on,

The world human society is morphing out of the world of apathetic Baby Boomers and their corporate religion to the spirituality and awakening going on with the Millennials and their spirituality. I have always been an early arriving Millennial born as a Baby Boomer.

Here is the core question for you and the board about WorldPeace and political and religious issues as poetry.

The Pulitzer Prize is grounded in investigative journalism which is always directly or indirectly about unpeaceful issues in the world. But you ban WorldPeace related poems about issues that you give prizes for in poetry. You people are lost in space. You have Amanda Gorman putting a Harvard vocabulary on "Mary Had a Little Lamb poetry" and other such poems she learned in the 3rd to 5th grade.

Poetry is the bastard child of the Pulitzer Prizes. The books that win, the plays that take on hard issues, but not the poetry prize. The Poetry Prize is stuck in the 19th and early 20th century.

And when you recognize political issues, they are about the queer nation who are 10% of the world human society. You must bring the hard edge of the other Pulitzer Prizes into the Poetry realm.

Poetry is the language of the Millennials and the language of the Third Millennium. Ms Miller you know journalism but what the hell do you know about poetry. What does anyone else on the board know about the arts and poetry. Who on the board has this career background. In the case of poetry, you need to carve out a deputy administrator to run that department. A poet. Maybe the same regarding the other arts prizes.

8) The other big news today is the stupid Supreme Court and Row v Wade. These radical Christians have an incredibly twisted mindset. Christian-wise they just can't get in their head that unborn children (fetuses) have no right to be born. These fetuses have no rights in the law. And Christian-wise, when a body dies the soul lives. You cannot kill a soul. The dead body goes to the earth, the soul goes back to God who made it.

But there is a much bigger issue. These holy rollers demand that these fetuses be allowed to go full term and be born. But these holy rollers refuse as in absolutely refuse to provide one dime to support these births they demand. They also refuse to adopt these unborn fetuses who become children. Now you talk about a go-to-hell issue. You demand a fetus go full term and be born and then you tell Jesus and God that those children are not (were not) your problem support-wise.

And then there is the radical ready to kill issue of refusal to get covid vaccinations and to wear masks. These anti-maskers are the same fools that want to take charge on significant issues like abortion. How many anti-maskers are ready to do harm so they don't have to wear a mask and turn around and tell a woman she has to take a baby full term with no government funding. Just how F-d up a mindset is that. Fuzzy thinking on steroids.

And there is also the fight to the death of the holy rollers to not provide free contraception to cut down on the size of the abortion problem. Jesus, Mary and Joseph!

And these are the same fools that listen to the billion dollar Jesus shows led by "money as god" preachers talking about Jesus who had no assets, All about making millions talking about a homeless traveling preacher.

And the Pulitzer Poetry prize wants to keep these issues, these considerations in the journalism section.

WHAT IS WRONG WITH THIS PICTURE. ????

9) Hebrews 8: 10 New Testament and Jeremiah 31: 34 Old Testament "God says he put his laws in every human heart and mind and NO ONE NEEDS TO TEACH ANYONE. The Bible itself negates the need for preachers. When you follow anyone religion-wise you become a slave and just as blind as that person whose truth you are following in his heart as opposed to your God given truth.

Corporate Christianity is dead. The Third Millennium is about spirituality not corporate religion. Two very different things.

10) I am not a prophet or a messiah much less Jesus, I am a messenger with one message, WorldPeace.

Now for the second time in two years, I have put the WorldPeace issue on the Pulitzer Poetry Prize agenda. With the world in chaos and the Garden of Eden burning down what is the Pulitzer going to do. Talk about it in journalism and ban it in Poetry?

11) You Ms. Miller need to put the Poetry Prize under the same metric as Journalism. Dont give me any crap that the Pulitzer Prizes are not about WorldPeace but about "Mary had a little lamb" poetry and Black male queers.

I advocate for equal political rights for everyone. Always have. But here I am talking about political focus on the 90% of the world human society that is not on the queer train.

The most urgent issue in the world human society is WorldPeace in the traditional sense, as the war of Russia in Ukraine murders human beings every single day and much of the night.

You have one WorldPeace candidate for the Pulitzer Poetry Prize for 2022 and had one candidate in 2020 whose submission you trashed and did not read. That is right, you threw WorldPeace into the trash. Are you on that track again.

Sincerely,
WorldPeace
